WOODSTOCK NEWS

Athletic Meet and Play Day
Friday, June 10

The third annual Windsor County athletic meet and play day, under the direction of the Y. M. C. A., takes place next Friday, June 10, and interest and enthusiasm over the meeting promises its entire success both in the number of participants and in attendance.

No fakirs will be allowed to set up their stands on the grounds, and competent officials will supervise every part of the program.

New to the program this year are several events open to business and professional men, including 100 yard dash, running broad jump, 12 pound shot put, and standing broad jump.

A tug of war that will be a feature, is being arranged between Woodstock and Bridgewater teams.

Committees of ladies will assist in the care of the children and little folks. Grand stand seats will all be free, and carriages and automobiles admitted without charge.

The only charge made will be for admission to the grounds; 25 for adults, children, 9 to 12 years, 15.

Congregationalists in Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Windsor Association of Congregational churches was held with the Woodstock church, May 31 and June 1. Some 30 delegates and speakers were present from 11 churches. A larger number would doubtless have been in attendance but for the exceedingly unfavorable weather.

A strong program was provided and every place upon it was filled. The papers and addresses were of a high order. Prof. S. F. Emerson of the University of Vermont gave a masterly discourse on Tuesday evening, in which he refuted the argument put forth by President Woodrow Wilson in his recent Pittsburg address, to the effect that the church and like institutions minister to the masses rather than to the masses. It is but just to say that this address deserved a much wider hearing than it received.

This being the centennial year of the American Board nearly an entire session was given over to the missionary theme, all the parts being well taken.

The Woman's Hour brought to the platform Miss Olive Gibson of Albuquerque, N. M., and Miss Alice Bushee, missionary to Spain, each of whom was heard with much real pleasure and profit.

The place of next meeting is Bethel. The delegates chosen to the meeting of the National Council, to be held in Boston in October, were Rev. C. H. Echterbecker of Windsor, and Rev. Sherman Goodwin of South Royalton. Seldom does a meeting of this character provide a more interesting and profitable program. Did you miss it?

County W. C. T. U. Meeting

An executive session of the Windsor County W. C. T. U. was held at the Methodist Episcopal church on Wednesday, with delegates present from Rochester, East Barnard and Norwich, bad weather preventing a larger attendance.

Mrs. Laura Kezer, president, was in the chair. The reports of superintendents of the several departments showed that good work had been done the past year.

The principal speaker, heard with much pleasure several times, was Miss Rhene Mosher, national superintendent of the young people's branch of the W. C. T. U. The delegates were entertained at dinner and supper by the members of the local union.

BASE BALL NOTES

The High School team won two games and lost one the past week. At the Junction they were beaten 4 to 1 by the base ball representatives of the Hartford High school, who didn't seem to care how few scores their visitors got.

The two Memorial day games, one played in the rain, were runaways for the local team, Hanover High putting up no opposition to the procession around the bases. Score, morning game, 19 to 1. Mackenzie pitched for the locals.

The afternoon game, without rain, was a much better exhibition, but was hardly a contest, as the score, 9 to 2, indicates. Pitcher Prior held the enemy in check, Wood catching efficiently morning and afternoon.

The local Y. M. C. A. boys again subdued the presumptuous boys of the Quechee Y. M. C. A. in their second game here Saturday afternoon. Pitcher Banagan started off threateningly for the visitors, but weakened, and the Woodstock boys found it clear sailing around the bases. Score 10 to 7.

Memorial Day

Rain fell nearly all the morning of Memorial day, but it interfered little with the program of the veterans of George C. Randall Post, about fifty of whom were in the annually dwindling line.

The Bridgewater band led the parade to the cemetery in the morning, with Thomas J. Adams chief marshal and Co. G acting as escort for the veterans. Following came the Co. G drum corps, the juvenile Co. Q, and about 150 school children under the direction of Comrade W. C. Vaughan and Miss Catherine Wilder.

The parade halted on the middle bridge for the service to the sailor dead, then proceeding to the River street cemetery for the decoration of the graves of departed veterans.

The veterans returned to the town hall for an ample dinner served by the Woman's Relief Corps, the members of Co. G also being invited to sit at the tables.

Following a parade through several streets in the afternoon exercises were held at Music hall, beginning with the Grand Army ritual, music, and prayer by Rev. H. L. Canfield. Lincoln's Gettysburg address was recited by Wendell Harvey of Co. G, followed by the recitations, "An Incident of the War," by Miss Catherine Wilder, and "Sheridan's Ride," by Miss Ethel Jackson.

The address of the day was delivered by Raymond Trainor of White River Junction, who spoke of the moral justification of some of the wars of the past, the duties of citizenship, and was especially interesting and forceful throughout his remarks.

The new drum corps of Company G, which drummed its way to fame Monday, includes the following: Daniel Gearing, 2d, fife; Ralph Spaulding, bass drum, Clinton Grandy and Robert Slayton, tenor drums.

Company Q, made up of 15 boys from 8 to 10 years old, and uniformed in the regulation khaki, attracted much attention as a very promising lot of young troopers. Hadley Spear is commander, Edwin Burbridge and Roger Eastman lieutenants. Company Q will appear at the athletic meet on June 10.

The Bridgewater band furnished excellent music for the parade.

Liberal special premiums are offered for fancy yokes of oxen at the Windsor Co. fair of Sept. 13-14-15.

WOODSTOCK NOTES

Mrs. W. R. Devereaux of Barton, is spending a couple of days with her daughter, M. Glenna Devereaux, on her way home from a visit in New Hampshire.

"Reminiscences of a Hotel Man of Forty Years' Service," is the title of a book by Henry S. Mower, former superintendent of the Plaza hotel, New York, which is to be published the latter part of this month. Mr. Mower is a son of Woodstock; he has always kept up his interest in the place, and his forthcoming book will have a chapter in old Woodstock, with a picture of the Inn. The reminiscences of an experienced observer like Mr. Mower should make very interesting reading.

A false alarm of fire was turned in from the box at the corner of River and Union streets early Friday evening of last week, the fire department responding promptly, also many citizens. It is thought to have been the work, accidental or otherwise, of small boys.

W. W. Dearborn arrived June 1st from Ocean Grove, N. J. Mr. Dearborn is interested in an information bureau recently started in Ocean Grove, and is to try the new system here.

Alden H. Clark, of Western India, one of the ablest speakers at the Vermont meeting of the laymen's missionary movement, will give an address in the Congregational church tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Clark is a man of strength and ideas, and it is hoped that many will take this opportunity to hear him.

The Inn entertained twelve automobile parties Sunday, and on the Friday before had about 175 guests at dinner, including a party of 115 students and ladies from Hanover.

Also, to elect a District Committee of one for each County in the District for the next biennial term.

and 9, with an excellent program. There will be addresses by leading pastors of Universalist churches, including one by Rev. H. L. Canfield of Woodstock. The Bethel parish will extend a hearty welcome to all who attend this meeting and it is expected that the local Universalist church will be well represented.

A. W. Perkins, son of the late John Perkins of Woodstock, has bought F. R. Knight's photographic studio, and has taken possession. Mr. Perkins has had much experience in photography, having had a studio in Springfield for some years before going to Claremont, N. Horace Swan of Rutland, for many years a resident of Woodstock, living in the house now occupied by A. F. Hubbard, died Wednesday, aged 85 years. He left Woodstock about 25 years ago. He was born in Stockbridge. In 1845 he married Miss Hanna Angel in Ashburnham, Mass., and she survives him. The four children are all deceased, the last, W. H. Swan, a Rutland photographer, dying last fall. Mr. Swan was a carriage maker for about 30 years, later going into insurance, and then sold monumental work. While the present state house was being erected Mr. Swan was employed in a wood-working shop at Barnard. Some imitation hornet's nests he had previously made had attracted considerable attention and he was commissioned to make similar ornaments for the state house. These still adorn the building and are in good condition.
